

Did you know...
Tsodilo has the highest concentration of rock art in the world

Tsodilo, Botswana's only World Heritage Site (and 4 hours drive from Maun) has amongst the highest concentration of rock art in the world... 4500 paintings in 10 square km.

And Tsodilo (30km from the nearest water) has fossilized fish! At various times in the last 30,000 years Tsodilo has had a spectacular lake. The fossil record also includes bone barbed points for catching these slippery characters: a fishing technique from northern Africa and unknown anywhere else in southern Africa!
